PESACH

JOYOUS PRAISE

The Zohar writes that whoever retells the story of yetzias Mitzrayim and celebrates it joyfully will be privileged to rejoice with the Shechina in Olam HaBa. The AriZal taught that the Haggada should be recited aloud, with great simcha and focused kavana.

(רעיא מהימנא פ' בא מ' ע"ב, סידור האריז"ל קודם מה נשתנה)

The meshamesh Reb Nachman Maryashin related that when he was once at the Seder of the Rebbe Maharash, and all the chassidim at the table were sitting with awe and derech erez as they read the Haggada quietly, the Rebbe instructed that the Haggada should be recited aloud.

The Frieddiker Rebbe also read the Haggada aloud, and when he became physically unable to do so, he asked others to do it instead. The Rebbe likewise would motion to the person reading the Haggada to read it aloud. During Hallel, the Rebbe would read aloud with a sweet tune and a noticeable dveikus, tears flowing from his eyes.

(אוצר מנהגי חב"ד ע' קנר, קצח)

One year during the first Seder, Rebbetzin Chaya Mushka, the wife of the Tzemach Tzedek, came running in to the home of her father, the Mitteler Rebbe. While they were performing the Seder at home, her husband had drifted off into a trance of ecstasy, had fallen off his chair, and was lying under the table in a state of klos hanefesh. The Mitteler Rebbe was unfazed and assured her, "Never mind; he will crawl out."

Rebbetzin Chaya Mushka returned home, only to find her husband in the same position. She ran back to father, who this time instructed some chassidim who had entered to tell the Tzemach Tzedek in his name that he should regain consciousness. They went along with Rebbetzin Chaya Mushka, but as they entered the house, the Tzemach Tzedek stood up and resumed his position at the table.

(למען ידעו ע' 315)

While reciting the Haggada, Reb Levi Yitzchok of Berditchev was filled with tremendous hislahavus. When he reached the words Matzah zu he would become so carried away in dveikus that he would fall from his chair to the floor, overturning the kaira, the matzos and the wine. By the time he came to, the table would be set afresh, and another long white kittel was handed to him to replace the one stained with wine. Putting it on, he would say with visible delight, "Ah! Matzah zu..."

CONSIDER

Over what do we rejoice at the seder?

How does one merit feeling the kedusha of the seder?

AN EXACT SEDER

The Maharil writes that one should be filled with awe as he fulfills every particular instruction that the Chachomim ordained for the Seder. Even if a certain observance may seem to be unimportant, one should realize that every detail has significance. As the Shaloh writes, "All the mitzvos of the Seder have lofty reasons, both revealed and hidden. It is a mitzva to discuss them and to try to understand them."

(הגש"פ עם לקוטי טעמים ומנהגים ע' ה)

The Shaloh writes further: The Seder night and all its halachos are filled with kedusha, for at this time HaShem chose us from the nations and gave us His mitzvos. On this night one should refrain from engaging in mundane chatter so as not to be separated from HaShem even for a moment. And by telling the story of yetzias Mitzrayim, we arouse the power of geulah.

(של"ה - מס' פסחים)

In the original Tomchei Temimim yeshivah in Lubavitch, the whole of Pesach, including of course the Sedarim, was celebrated joyously, with almost all of the bochurim staying in Lubavitch to hear Chassidus from the Rebbe Rashab, instead of traveling home.

Many tables were set up for all the seudos in a large room, and a director and an assistant were chosen to take care of all the necessary Yom-Tov preparations for the hundred-and-fifty bochurim. At the Sedorim, one person at each table was appointed as mashgiach, to be responsible for the needs of that table. One talmid was chosen to be the announcer, and he would auction the zechus of asking the Mah Nishtana, filling the Kos shel Eliyahu, opening the door for Eliyahu, and leading the bentching. Following the announcer's instructions, one table would start Kadesh, and when they concluded the next table was instructed to begin, each table taking its turn. Urchatz was done in the same organized fashion.

In the middle of the room was a table, on which stood a handcrafted menorah of the Rebbe Maharash, and around it the talmidim danced during the seuda. The Seder continued into the early morning hours.

(רשימות דברים ח"א ע' של"א)

AUSPICIOUS TIME

When introducing Mah Nishtana, the Haggada says: Kan haben shoel. Simply translated, this means: "At this point, the son asks [the Four Questions]." However, shoel means not only "asks" but also "requests." So once at the Seder, when the tzaddik Reb Osher of Stolin came to those words, he told those present, "Now is the time for every Yid to ask HaShem for whatever he needs."

(בית אהרן)

The Rebbe Rashab once told the Frieddiker Rebbe, "Yosef Yitzchok, during the Seder, and especially when opening the door for Eliyahu HaNavi, one should think about being a mentch, and HaShem will give His help. Don't ask for gashmiyus, only for ruchniyus."

BEDIKAS CHAMETZ ON FRIDAY NIGHT

What should one do if they forgot to search for chametz before Shabbos Erev Pesach?

When erev Pesach falls on Shabbos, one searches for chametz a night earlier than usual, on Thursday night, since the search is meant to be done at night with a candle to illuminate the holes and crevices.¹ If one forgot to do bedikas chametz on Thursday night, one should do it on Friday during the day, with a bracha, and still use a candle to inspect the holes and crevices.²

What if one didn't remember until Friday night?

Some poskim permit having a non-Jew carry the candle, as it's a rabbinic prohibition which may be done by a non-Jew for the sake of a mitzvah (shevus b'makom mitzvah).³ But the Alter Rebbe simply writes that a candle cannot be handled on Shabbos and doesn't mention the option of a non-Jew handling it.⁴

Some explain that asking a non-Jew to carry the candle isn't an option since the Jew won't check properly out of fear of getting burned, just as a torch can never be used since he will be worried about burning the house.⁵ Others explain that Chazal simply didn't institute bedikah on Friday night because not everyone would have a non-Jew accessible.⁶

Some write that one should search the rooms illuminated with light bulbs on Friday night without a bracha and wait to check the areas requiring candlelight until motza'ei Shabbos.⁷ As mentioned, the Alter Rebbe simply writes that one should not search on Shabbos at all in the absence of a candle. Some note that if one cleaned one's house thoroughly before Pesach, there's more basis not to look for heterim how to check on Shabbos but rather wait until one can use a candle.

On Pesach itself, one can search for chametz with a bracha, even after having performed bitul chametz, as Chazal established one should search and not rely on bitul. If one finds chametz on yom tov, he shouldn't touch it (since he can't burn it then), but rather cover it to prevent people from accidentally eating it.⁸

Our Heroes

R. SHILEM REICH

Originally from Warsaw, Poland, R. Meshulam (Shilem) Reich (c. 5594-5669) married Rivkah, the daughter of Harav Boruch Sholom, the eldest son of the Tzemach Tzedek. R. Shilem lived in Warsaw for a period, and had a close relationship with the Chidushei Harim of Ger. He published a number of Chabad seforim, and served as a shadar for Colel Chabad.

The Frieddiker Rebbe described Simchas Torah in Lubavitch, during the years that R. Shilem lived there:

"The custom was that on Simchas Torah davening began at 8 am and would finish at 11. After davening, they would make kiddush, and then my father, the Rebbe Rashab, and his brother, the Raza, would go to the home of R. Shilem. The walk to R. Shilem's house was with much joy, with singing and dancing, disregarding the mud in the streets."

(אג"ק מוהרי"צ ח"ו ע' 270)

The Chidushei Harim of Ger would often ask R. Shilem about the Tzemach Tzedek and Chassidus Chabad.

Once, R. Shilem quoted an explanation from the Alter Rebbe in Likutei Torah, but the Chidushei Harim said that it can't be, since he's fluent in Likutei Torah and he doesn't recall it. R. Shilem directed him to the section on Shir Hashirim, of which the Chidushei Harim had been unaware. The Chidushei Harim asked to borrow it and he later said that he learned from it only when he had "pure thoughts."

On another occasion, the Chidushei Harim asked whether the Tzemach Tzedek used twelve challos on Shabbos and wore a kittel to the sefer. When R. Shilem replied in the negative to both practices, the Chidushei Harim replied, "The Tzemach Tzedek studied by great Rebbes; we can only imitate our Rebbes."

(היכל הבעש"ט ט"ז ע' 114)

R. Shilem and his wife didn't have children for many years. Once, while in Warsaw, his wife pleaded with the Chidushei Harim and didn't want to leave until she would get a promise. The Chidushei Harim told her to ask her grandfather, the Tzemach Tzedek, since he can help her without a doubt if he wishes, and he told her to say so in his name. She relayed the message to the Tzemach Tzedek and she was indeed blessed with a child.

A Moment with The Rebbe

'DER EIGENER TREISEL UN HAZOZOH'

After spending some time in Rebbe's court following the acceptance of the nesius, Reb Bentche Shemtov took leave of the Rebbe, to return to his Shlichus in England. Before he left, the Rebbe guided him what to do upon his return.

"It is advisable and fitting to arrange a Farbrengen, with love and achdus, and with simcha, because a Farbrengen can accomplish much more that can be done by one person learning himself with a Sefer.

"At the farbrengen," the Rebbe continued, "you should discuss the need for der eigener treisel un hazozoh (one's own shudder and movement). But it must be added that one doesn't need to fast for three days to achieve this. It can be accomplished with a kappitel Tehillim said properly, a possuk of Chumash with Rashi, a few lines of Tanya, a piece of Chassidus.

"The Farbrengen can be done before [the said avodah], after it, or in the middle.

"The most important thing is," the Rebbe concluded, "to constantly try, once, twice, three times. If it hasn't worked, don't be afraid to attempt a fourth time. And if there was a hefsek, get back and continue. And then, one will suddenly find himself standing in the light."
